Oral reading fluency norms, grades 1 to 8

The scores shown in this chart were generated from the Oral Reading Fluency records of between 3,500-20,000 students in each grade level in a particular season of the school year. They were compiled as part of a larger study on the general normative profiles of oral reading fluency of students across the US in 2005 . While these scores may provide a point of reference for fluency scoring, they are not meant to represent benchmarks or standards set by schools, districts, states, or other academic organizations. Please be sure to reference your own state and local standards for specific scoring guidelines.
